Virginia Car Owners Must Meet Requirements to get '59 license

Va. car owners must meet one of two requirements in order to obtain new license plates next month. Evidence must be furnished that the motor vehicle is insured to meet minimum requirements of the new law or an uninsured owner's fee of $15.00 in addition to the license fee must be paid.

T. Hunter Dickerson, local agent for the Division of Motor Vehicles in Appomattox, explained today that the law which was passed by the General Assembly last spring does not apply to trailers or any non-powered vehicle.

"The insured automobile owner who has automobile liability insurance in at least the amounts of $10,000/$20,000 bodily injury and $1,000 property damage must fill out a certification of insurance," he said.

He explained that the form for the certification of insurance is located on the reverse side of the 1959 owner's registration application form which will be mailed from the Division of Motor Vehicles in early March.

Mr. Dickerson strongly emphasized that to avoid the payment of the $15.00 additional fee the insurance certification must be fully completed and stressed that the information must be exactly as shown on the owner's current automobile liability policy.

"It is highly desirable," said Mr. Dickerson, "that the motor vehicle owner obtain the following information and complete the certification before he attempts to purchase license plates.

These are the items that will be required: Full and complete name of insurance company. NOT NAME OF AGENT OR AGENCY. Policy number, including any letter prefix. Exact name of insured as stated in policy. Effective date of policy. (DATE POLICY PERIOD BEGAN.) Insert the above information in certification form on back of license application.

Print all information clearly. Sign and date your certification." He also noted that the insurance must be placed with an insurance company licensed to do business in Virginia.

He also explained that the payment of the $15.00 uninsured owner's fee does not provide the owner with any form of insurance protection but is payment for the privilege of licensing an uninsured motor vehicle.

He made it clear that if the uninsured owner is involved in an accountable accident his license plates and operator's or chauffer's license are subject to suspension until he deposits security or obtains releases from persons damaged or injured.

Mr. Dickerson said that while $10,000/$20,000 and $1,000 is the minimum insurance required to meet the law for renewal of license plates in March, the Virginia Safety Responsibility Act has been amended effective July 1, 1959, to increase the minimum.

"On or after July 1, 1959, a person involved in an accident must furnish evidence that an automobile liability insurance policy in at least the amount of $15,000 for bodily injury of one person, $30,000 for bodily injury of two or more persons and $5,000 for damages to property was in effect at the time of the accident or he must deposit security or obtain releases from all persons damaged or injured."

Mr. Dickerson advised that his office, located in Appomattox, will be open from 8:30 A .M. to 5:30 P. M. beginning March 16 for the sale of 1959 license plates.

KNOW THE WEATHER

By E. H. Sims

Why do transatlantic airliners usually depart from Europe at night? What does the weather have to do with this practice?

Although there are other factors to be considered, there is one weather factor which influences the airline companies to fly the Atlantic westward at night.

The prevailing winds over the Atlantic are, of course, west to east. This means that an airliner finds the going tougher, the ground speed less and the time engines must run greater, when bucking a headwind.

At night the winds are usually slowed somewhat and the disadvantage is minimized. In addition, the airliners fly at that altitude at which the winds are weakest.

Dry left-over bread in a slow oven, crush into fine crumbs, and store in a covered glass jar. Use for breading pork and veal chops. Or, for topping baked dishes. Serve toast cubes instead of crackers with soup.

Health and Beauty

Sleep is the best beauty treatment of all. Lack of sleep over a long period can drag a person down to poor health both mentally and physically. Doctors are even using long periods of artificially induced sleep to cure some types of mental disorders.

There is no cream you can buy that will erase the lines put into your face by constantly not getting enough rest. This is often a problem to young mothers. The best advice in the world is to let some housework go undone and take a nap during the day with your baby.

Don't fool yourself into thinking that you will be able to cover those circles with makeup. At first this will be possible. However, after a while you will look like a bag, even under a ton of makeup.

One of the quickest ways to lose your mental poise and outward appearance is to couple late hours with over indulgence in cigarettes. Alcohol has no dry the sky and perfect breeding place Smoking is bad for th and health in gener that has a detriment health will help to desig looks.

The best rule to live ation. Get enough rest, nourishing food and exe will be rewarded by a vigorous life.

Impala Sport Coupe—like every Chevy—has Safety Plate Glass all around.

Chevy stops quickest... goes farthest on a gallon!

Chevy showed the best brakes of the leading low-priced three in a test of repeated stops at highway speeds conducted and certified by NASCAR*. Chevy also won over the other two in a NASCAR economy run—with the highest gas mileage for 6's and V8's at cruising speeds of just over 55 miles an hour.

Here's a car that knows how to get the most out of a gallon. And it's the only car in its field to bring you hydraulic valve lifters in all popular engines—6 and V8. This means smoother, quieter performance for you.

There are many other advances just as fundamental as the efficiency of Chevrolet's engines and the dependability of its new brakes (with more lining area than any other low-priced car). But why not stop by your dealer's and let Chevy do its own sweet talking!

FARM BUREAU MET FEBRUARY 26 TH.

The Farm Bureau enjoyed a delicious supper at Maude's Restaurant on the evening of Feb. 26.

After the food was so enjoyably eaten, a welcome was given by the president and an election of officers was held. The slate of officers for the coming year as elected was: president, Walter Henry; vice-president, Clarence Moore, and secretary and treasurer, David M. Wood, Sr. Two members of the board of directors were elected, Mr. Marshall for the Southside District, and Mr. Guy Terrence for the Clover Hill District.

After the business meeting, Mr. John Putney, area advisor for the Farm Bureau Mutual Ins. Co. of Virginia, gave an interesting discussion on the many types of insurance available to Farm Bureau members.

Mr. Hiram Ligler, field representative for the southwestern section of Virginia, spoke on nature and aims of the Farm Bureau. He cited the close relationship that existed between Farm Bureau and church organizations. He explained that "Farm Bureau is an organization of farmers, by the farmers, for everyone." The first standard, he said, is "Is it right?" Some of the outstanding farm problems, he said, are inflation, high taxes, unbalanced Topic for discussion at this meet- The growth of Farm Bureau was noted by the mention o f almost 18,000 members in Virginia. He said that it had grown in Buckingham County from 16 to 100 members. Prospective members are asked to contact any officer of the Appomattox County organization.

Homemakers Items

What fruits and vegetables should be kept in the refrigerator?

Most homemakers may know the answer to that question. Some homemakers may be misinformed, says Dr .George E. Mattus, associate horticulturist at VPI.

The popular song about bananas was correct. They should not be kept in the refrigerator. The banana peels will turn brown, the banana fail to ripen properly, and they will taste flat and starchy.

Nor should lemons be refrigerated. However, most fresh fruits, including apples, pears ,and grapes, should be kept in the refrigerator.

Sweet potatoes may develop chilling injury if held below 55°, as they keep better when not refrigerated, Irish or white potatoes do not require refrigeration during cool periods of the year. They develop or maintain better quality at room temperature if used within a month after purchase than they do at low temperatures. If you buy baking or boiling potatoes in transparent film containers, keep them in the dark or put them in dark paper bags. The skin of Irish potatoes will turn green if held in the light.

Yellow onions usually do not need to be refrigerated. They will keep well in a pantry or kitchen. However, if they are packaged in film bags when bought, remove them. Onions held in film bags may start to root or sprout. White or red onions often do not keep as well as yellow onions and should be refrigerated.

Onions may be held at room temperature if they are used within a couple of days after purchase: If kept longer, put them in the refrigerator. Refrigerating tangerines also is a good idea.

Baking or winter squash need not be refrigerated. However, summer or boiling squash should be refrigerated.

Tomatoes ripen in summer or winter to better quality if they are not put in the window. They ripen best at a room temperature of about 70° Do not keep tomatoes in tight film containers. They will have a better flavor if well exposed to air. Ripe tomatoes may be held a few days in the refrigerator.

Do not store vegetables in prepackaged film containers for more than two or three days. Some of the films maintain a high moisture content and may increase mold growth on produce. It is better to remove the film covering and store in the humid vegetable tray of the refrigerator. The tray holds down excessive shriveling, but does not cause as much mold growth as film bags.

Ground coffee benefits from refrigeration. The coffee bean contains oils which do not keep their good flavor as well if held at room temperatures.

Missile Leaks Device

West Lynn, Mass.- A super-sensitive instrument to detect missile fuel leakage can sniff out leaks no small that it would take more than a year for a 1-100 ounce of gas to escape undetected. It consists of a control unit and probe.

To test for leaks, the operator introduces a tracer gas into the rocket engine system, and then passes the proble over the external surface. Any escaping gas sets off an audible alarm and causes an electric signal on the control unit.
